

A couple from Tacoma, giving the names of Disiderio Laterza and Mareanna Etchoverra, rushed into the Auditor's office yesterday and demanded a permit to marry to be issued immediately, and after it was made out asked to have the ceremony performed amid falling bricks and the dust of mortar. The sympathetic officer doubtless apprehending the momentary appearance of an irate father, or some other exciting episode, immediately rang up Rev. Dr. Sawin, who appeared and tied up the knot with expedition. Then it was found that the only object of haste was to enable the happy couple to return to Tacoma by the afternoon train, which could scarcely be called an emergency of enough magnitude to throw the whole official gang into tribulation. Hereafter they will inquire into the urgency of the situation before switching on the "rush" brake.

Clipped By:

m_gariador
Sun, May 5, 2019